NO WAR BEFORE NOVEMBER, 1952

Grassroots Poll Is Outlined By Disciple President TR

NEW YORK, March 15—There will be no World War III before November, 1952—and probably not then—if you take the word of experts sampled in a unique grassroots poll of American opinion.

The man who conducts this highly informal, highly informative inquiry is James C. Gipsen, who is something of a legend in the ranks of the Republican Party.

Gipsen, president of Caxton Printers of Caldwell, Idaho, is a man forthrightly dedicated to the principles of free enterprise and minimum government control as set forth by President Theodore Roosevelt.

Acting on an admonition from "TR," Gipsen has spent the intervening years making one or two annual swings about the country in support of the American way of life. Determined never to incur jealousy by holding public office, the 65-year-old Gipsen nevertheless has become friend and confidant of countless civic, military and political leaders.

HIS LATEST TOUR of the nation, in which Gipsen talked to more than 40 congressmen, as well as businessmen, diplomats, publishers and editors, included a series of questions he asked of everyone from cab drivers to ambassadors.

These were the questions, and these were the majority answers:

1. Will we have a runaway inflation before November of 1952 of the type that Germany had three decades ago or will it be a gradually rotting process as seen in the recent case of France? Majority answer: The latter.

2. Will World War III break out before November, 1952? Answer: No.

3. Will President Truman be a candidate to succeed himself in 1952? Answer: No.

4. Who would be the Democratic nominee if not Truman? Answer: Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

5. Will Eisenhower accept the nomination? Answer: Yes.

6. Should he be nominated? Answer: No.

7. Who will the Republicans nominate and whom should they nominate? Answer: Sen. Taft.

Take it from Gipsen, that is the tenor of Republican and republican—the latter spelled with a small "r"—thought across the nation.

One of the answers—the feeling that Eisenhower should not be nominated for the presidency—requires some explanation.

The explanation, according to Gipsen, is simple. It is not, he points out, the constitutional purpose of the United States to have a military man as its leader.

War, Gipsen feels, is neither necessary nor inevitable. He has been told of amazing unrest among the peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

"All that must be done," he says, "is that they must feel that this country is the true champion of liberty, and that we are their friends. Once our foreign policy indicates this, Mr. Stalin will have more than he can handle right in his own back yard."

Korean Veteran Sought; Kills Wife, 2 Others

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., March 15—A state police posse combed heavily wooded areas of nearby Ashley today for a wounded Korean war veteran who shot and killed his estranged wife, her father and his brother-in-law.

The fugitive, Edward Rovinsky, 25, fled into the woods after the triple killing, still armed with a rifle and a pistol. Police said he was apparently crazed by the rift with his wife.

Searchers took up an all-night vigil on the outskirts of Ashley, using ten cars equipped with powerful searchlights to patrol bordering roads. The hunt went on amid heavy snow and rain.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Margaret Rovinsky, 22, and her father, Andrew Stuka, 55, both of Ashley, and George Tomko, 30, of Wilkes-Barre, the brother-in-law.

Police said Rovinsky opened at point-blank range at a car bearing the trio and driven by Anthony Kulyshie, 44. The first bullet nicked Kulyshie in the right ear. Mrs. Rovinsky was found dead in the back seat.

Tomko's body was sprawled beside the car. Stuka had been cut down by a bullet while fleeing toward the rear of a nearby schoolhouse.

HONGCHON MOUNTAIN HUB ALSO TAKEN

Allies Drive To Within 15 Miles Of Parallel After Taking Seoul

TOKYO, March 16—(Friday)—United Nations troops smashed into the mid-Korean mountain hub of Hongchon Thursday and reoccupied Red-abandoned Seoul in a broadscale advance to within less than 15 miles of Parallel 38.

The entry into pivotal Hongchon, 21 miles below the parallel and once the main Chinese Red stronghold in mountainous Central Korea, was disclosed in a midnight field dispatch.

A daring tank patrol of the U. S. First Cavalry Division stabbed almost seven miles beyond the front lines at Hongchon up the road leading northwest toward Chunchon.

North of Hongchon, Allied troops encountered artillery, mortar and small arms fire from enemy troops holding high ground and to the east U. S. Second Division Doughboys engaged an estimated 250 Reds in hand-to-hand fighting northwest of Seksa Thursday afternoon.

Southwest of Hongchon, American Marines met the heaviest enemy artillery fire in weeks.

Three of five American fighter planes making a strike near the 38th Parallel in the western sector were downed by heavy Red anti-aircraft fire. One jet pilot was killed and a downed Mustang fighter pilot was evacuated by a helicopter.

Hongchon, vital rail-highway center, fell after troops of two American divisions and a Greek brigade clamped a steel noose around the city, crossing the Hongchon river and cutting the lifeline highway to Chunchon.

In the west, South Korean First Division troops entered Seoul unopposed to launch the war's second liberation of Korea's national capital from Red rule.

American Third Division GIs followed the South Koreans into the war-ravaged metropolis.

The U. S. Eighth Army announced in a Thursday night communique that the South Koreans spent the day "screening" the sprawling capital without finding any of the elusive Communist troops inside its wide limits.

Farther east, the bulletin said, other UN forces "continued to advance" beyond the U. S. 25th Division's bulging bridgehead north of the Han river.

The bulletin listed an additional 1,300 Red casualties inflicted by the UN ground forces on Wednesday, raising to more than 40, 000 the enemy's manpower losses in eight days. By official count, an estimated 175,000 Chinese and North Korean troops have been knocked out since the UN offensive began rolling toward parallel 38 on Jan. 25th.

An armored patrol probed northward Thursday in quest of the new dispositions of some 200,000 surviving Chinese troops who had broken battle contact to back up toward or possibly beyond the parallel.

Tiger-faced tanks of the First Cavalry and First Marine Divisions drove up the narrow valleys to Hongchon in a swift offensive strike, blasting Chinese from the hilltops and plowing into enemy foxholes at the foot of each ridge.

A spectacular incident of this operation came when American planes set fire to a whole mountain with napalm (jellied gasoline) after Chinese troops were spotted digging in at that point north of Hongchon. It was one of the war's most intensive firebomb strikes.

Crime Probe Testimony Continuing

'Perfect Murder' Case Is Recalled

NEW YORK, March 15—A former New York City police official gave the Senate Crime Investigating Committee a bizarre theory today on how a key witness in notorious Murder, Inc., mysteriously "fell" to his death in November of 1941.

Frank C. Bals, a former deputy police commissioner and long-time friend of Former Mayor William O'Dwyer, also told the committee that he had heard Frank Costello's name mentioned in connection with Murder, Inc.

Costello, however, was never examined, Bals said, because there was no direct evidence concerning him.

Bals, who was chief investigator when O'Dwyer was district attorney of Brooklyn, was questioned closely by the committee as to why a "perfect murder" case was never prosecuted by O'Dwyer's office.

The "perfect murder" case was against Albert Anastasia, who is still active in New Jersey.

IN CONNECTION with Murder, Inc., activities in Brooklyn, Bals said:

"You had to get Anastasia's permission to murder anybody."

The chief witness against Anastasia in that "perfect murder" case was Abe Reles, killed in a fall from a hotel room in Brooklyn. Bals at the time was in charge of the detail guarding Reles in the hotel.

A grand jury presentment in 1945 severely criticized O'Dwyer as district attorney for failure to prosecute what O'Dwyer admitted was the perfect case against Anastasia. O'Dwyer is to be a committee witness Monday.

The committee's probing efforts into the New York police-political tieup occupied the morning session.

Frank Costello, who has been threatened for perjury because of testimony already given was slated to be the star witness again later today.

But in his third appearance before the Kefauver committee, the ex-bootlegger may share starring honors with Virginia Hill, former girl friend of the late mobster, Bugsy Siegel.

Sure, And It Was A Great Day For The Irish

COLUMBUS, March 15—Under resolution adopted yesterday, members of the Ohio house of representatives blossomed forth in green today in honor of St. Patrick's Day, even though the natal day of the snake-charmer is still two days away.

They all wore green—particularly Barrett, Carney, Corrigan, Duffy, Dunn, Joyce, Kilbane, Lynch, Manahan, O'Brien, O'Hara, O'Neil, Sullivan and Sweeney.

It was the tie, the handkerchief or a rosette in the lapel. Johnny Kilbane (D-Cuyahoga) wore them all, and green socks besides.

But it took another Cleveland, Joseph Aveallone (is that an Irish name?) to top them all. Aveallone wore a dollar bill as a bow necktie.

Speaker Gordon Renner singled out Rep. Pat Dunn, the 73-year-old red-headed bachelor from Tuscarawas County to pay tribute to St. Pat from the speaker's rostrum.

Dunn first quipped that, in view of all the green being worn, "I didn't know there were so many Irish in the legislature after the great Republican victory."

The Democrat lawmaker then seriously described the life of St. Patrick, commenting: "He never lost his faith in God. That's what we need in this present day."

THE HONORED FILE of American dead starts home from Korean battlefields for burial in scattered parts of the United States. All branches of the armed services participate in ceremonies conducted at various points of the solemn journey as above. Combat dead are now close to the 9,000 mark, and for the first time heroes are being brought back for home burial before the end of hostilities.

30-PAGE REPORT CITED

Senate Is Given Warning Of Red A-Bomb Stockpile

WASHINGTON, March 15—The solemn warning of a possible Russian knockout atom attack on the U.S. opened formal Senate debate today on the troops-to-Europe issue.

The warning was made in the report of the combined Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees, which have been considering the troops issue for weeks.

The 30-page report said that a European defense army is needed because it will be "only a matter of time" until Russia's supply of atom bombs is great enough to allow a "surprise, knockout punch to the West"—including the United States.

Sen. Byrd, (D) Va., injected a new note into the troops argument when he said that if President Truman should send more than four additional U.S. divisions to Europe without consulting Congress, it might lay the chief executive open to impeachment.

BYRD DECLARED that there is no doubt that the resolution approved by the combined committees recommending "congressional approval" for troop shipment makes it necessary for Congress to act before more troops are sent.

The veteran Democrat said: "If nothing more, it certainly is the strongest kind of a moral obligation upon him and I do not believe he would ignore that. If by chance a President did ignore it, Congress has ample room to exercise its authority by appropriations, and it would be almost grounds for impeachment."

The committees' report stated:

1. Britain will have 22 divisions in being or capable of rapid mobilization by the end of this year—about on a par with America's 24 divisions.

2. It is "not considered advisable" (Continued on Page Two)

Peace Rumors Are Discounted By Gen. Mac

TOKYO, March 15—Peace rumors emanating from the United States elicited from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters today the response that the United Nations command still is under orders to oust the aggressors from Korea.

High-level headquarters sources disavowed any knowledge of the basis for such rumors which originated at Lake Success and other points in America.

These officials stressed that MacArthur's UN armed forces are striving to the best of their ability to carry out their orders to clear Korea of the aggressors and pave the way for political unification of the peninsula.

They declared that nothing has been received from Lake Success to change these orders or the objective at which the orders are aimed.

Informed of the peace rumors, one official at headquarters put the question:

"With whom are we supposed to be negotiating and through what channels?"

NO NEW TAXES NECESSARY?

Labor Backing OEA Fight For Higher Teacher Wage

COLUMBUS, March 15—Organized Labor lent its voice to that of the powerful school lobby in demanding passage of the Ohio Education Association's initiated bill for minimum pay rates for teachers.

Jacob Clayman, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio CIO Council, joined another flood of teachers in appearing before the house education committee in support of the bill.

Clayman asserted it was his belief that no new taxes would be necessary to support the measure, which would guarantee teachers salaries of $1,800 to $4,520, depending on training and experience.

Clayman told the committee that the CIO has stood for higher teacher salaries since its founding, and added:

"Our folks, if necessary, are ready to pay the bill, whatever it may be. But I don't believe any new taxes will be necessary."

THE UNION LEADER said sufficient funds to meet the increased cost could be raised by "plugging loopholes" in the present tax structure. He cited sales tax violations, a state corporation franchise tax that yields only $5 million a year as against $40 to $50 million raised from this source in New York and Pennsylvania, low valuations placed on industrial real estate, and the classification of special use structures as personal rather than real property.

Personal property is supposed to be taxed at 50 percent of its true value while real estate is supposed to be taxed at 100 percent.

Clayman pointed out to the committee and the hundreds of teachers who jammed the room that the CIO has long favored a state income tax "patterned on the (exemptions granted in the) federal income tax" as a substitute for the sale tax when asked if he were willing to see an income tax proposed to pay the huge school bill.

John D. Blackford, president of the OEA and superintendent of schools in the Cincinnati suburb of Mariemont, said that Ohioans spent some $18 million for liquor in the two weeks before Christmas and New Year's, "and that's more than this bill would cost the first year."

Train Crackup

Kills 3 Persons

DETROIT, March 15—A Florida-bound New York Central passenger train cracked up in near-by Trenton early today, killing two women and a baby girl.

Some 30 passengers, most of them from the Detroit area, were injured, but only eight required hospitalization.

Mrs. Grace Allen, 25-year-old wife of a GI student at Michigan State college, and her year-old daughter, Janet, were killed when pinned in the mud under the wreckage. The third victim, Mrs. Florence Sheppard of St. Petersburg, Fla., was fatally injured when thrown from an overturned coach.

Koreans Cheer As Americans Enter Seoul

SEOUL, March 15—Thousands of crying and cheering Koreans greeted seven American soldiers and eleven correspondents as they entered Seoul today—the first Americans into the South Korean capital since it was abandoned by the United Nations forces Jan. 4.

Korean residents poured from doorways and sidestreets into the warm Spring-like sun. Screaming joyfully as they spotted the returning Americans and their British jeep driver.

Mothers held their babies aloft to see the small procession.

Behind the crowds of Korean spectators lining the streets were blasted buildings and the rubble wrought by Allied bombardments.

Republic of Korea and UN flags were flying from the remains of the capitol building, seat of the South Korean government.

The U. S. patrol scoured the city, but flushed out only one of the enemy, a Chinese Red army medical officer.

The South Koreans, however, were putting the finger on North Korean soldiers disguised as civilians.

Lt. John Hougen of Minneapolis led the Americans reentering Seoul.

Within 1,000 yards of the Korean government building, Sgt. Walter F. Clarkson of Burlington Iowa, wrote on a wall: "Hougen's Hoodlums—Here First."

Chamber Cited For Its Work In Circleville

Circleville Chamber of Commerce was commended this week on its efforts to bring new industry into the city.

The commendation was made by Larry H. Duncan, general industrial agent of Norfolk and Western Railway, in a talk before members of the senior and junior chambers of commerce during a dinner meeting in the local Elks Lodge Tuesday evening.

Duncan told chamber members that some cities are too anxious about bringing in more industry until they have completely absorbed what they already have.

He pointed out that there is such a thing as an oversupply of industry and an undersupply of labor in a town.

He said that from an industrial standpoint, Circleville has much in its favor. He listed water and power facilities and a good supply of industrial labor. Duncan advised the chamber to forget about trying to induce big industrial firms to locate plants here by offering inducements.

BIG FIRMS tend to feel insulted when offered inducements such as factory sites and buildings, he declared. They prefer to stand on their own feet.

Duncan warned that natural resources should not be taken out of the city too rapidly. He said it would be possible to get two or three industries to locate in a city and have the city go bankrupt trying to keep up with them.

Another speaker at the meeting was Lloyd H. O'Hara, executive vice president of Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce. In his speech O'Hara said the Jaycees stand for all things

Farmer Escapes Injury In Freak Highway Mishap

A Circleville Route 2 farmer narrowly escaped injury late Wednesday when the farm tractor and trailer he was operating was smashed from the rear by a semi-trailer outfit.

He is Austin Dowden, 46, who was thrown from his tractor into a ditch by the impact of the crash. He was shaken up, officials said, but unhurt.

State Highway Patrolman Clyde Wells said the accident occurred at about 4:10 p. m. Wednesday on Route 2, about four miles west of Circleville.

Wells said the smashup was brought about when air brakes on a tractor-trailer outfit operated by Harry Way, 22, of Cincinnati, apparently failed to work.

Way told the patrolmen he attempted to apply his brakes upon approaching the farm trailer but that they failed to work. He added that he was unable to swing around the Dowden trailer because of approaching traffic.

Wells said the semi-trailer cab struck the farm trailer with a terrific jolt, pushing the farm outfit up the road and spilling the load of baled hay from the farm trailer.

The tractor, after being rammed down the highway, overturned into a ditch to the right of the highway, while the hay-laden trailer overturned on the highway.

Although the accident was witnessed by an approaching motorist, Wells said that no one was able to determine when it was that Dowden was thrown from the tractor into the ditch.

"There was so much debris flying around that no one could see much," the patrolman said, "and Dowden couldn't remember when he left the tractor."

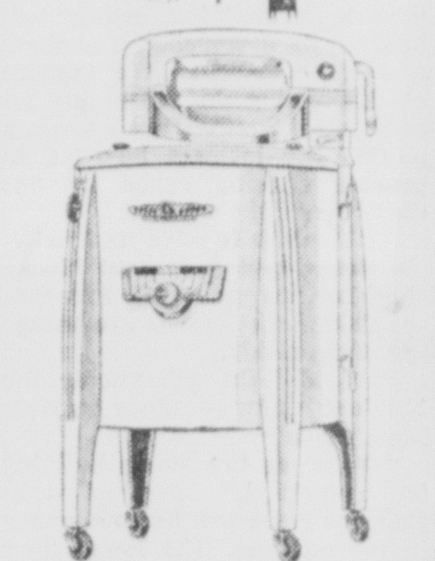

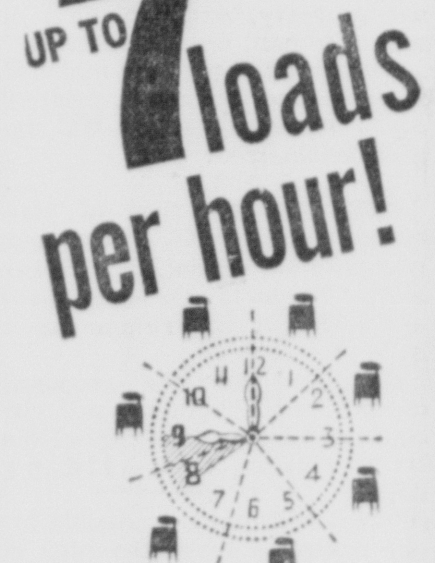

The semi-trailer cab was demolished in the crash, along with Dowden's farm trailer. The farm tractor also was damaged. Way later appeared in the court of Mayor Thurman I. Miller and was fined $25 and costs for reckless operation.

American. He explained the Jaycee Creed and showed how it was linked up with Americanism.

The Jaycees were given a certificate of merit for work performed last year. Officers and directors of the senior chamber also were given certificates of service for work performed last year.

able" to include a ratio or formula limiting American troop commitments.

3. Before air bombing of Russia could be finished "the aggressor could roll to the coastal areas of Europe and be in complete possession of the continent." The report said Russia has enough material in "dumps scattered close to West Europe to carry out conquest of the continent without necessity of resorting to her production resources behind the line."

4. NOW THAT Russia has the A-bomb, "it will presumably be only a matter of time until her supply will be great enough to deliver a surprise, knockout punch to the West"—threatening the productive output of the Allies. If by then Western Europe could not then defend itself against land invasion, "Soviet domination... would easily be possible."

The report added:

"It is thus clear that if Western Europe is to be strong enough to preserve peace or stop aggression if it should occur, Europe must have an effective ground force in being."

"The United States concentration on air and sea power alone at this stage is not enough to assure the North Atlantic treaty community against aggression or to achieve the security of this country."

Harrison Area Asks Fire Truck In Ashville

Harrison Township officials Monday worked out plans with Ashville village council for housing and manning a fire truck.

All that is needed now is the truck. And township officials said purchase is dependent upon pending financial arrangements with Pickaway County.

The township hopes to acquire a 600-gallon truck. It would be kept in Ashville fire station, manned by Ashville volunteer firemen. It would be available for use in both the village and township.

Ashville has 15 volunteers it can call out in the event of fire. Ashville council Monday also gave consideration to a request from North Long street residents for extension of a four-inch water main to the end of the street.

The extension would be north of the corporation line, would service about 20 property owners. It would provide two more fire hydrants for fighting blazes in that neighborhood.

Installation of the extension would be made at no expense to the village. The petitioners offered to purchase the pipe and install it themselves, providing council would permit the village main to be tapped.

Indications are mounting today that something in the nature of organized underground resistance to Communism is developing on the home soil of Soviet Russia.

The outcome could be a potentially successful revolution or a massacre perhaps without precedent in history—the plotters becoming the victims.

Ever since the Soviet Union embarked upon its policy of aggressive expansion, international observers have sought some sign that masses of the Russian people oppose a course of action that could mean their obliteration in an atomic war.

They have not been too greatly encouraged.

The Soviet secret service is immeasurably strong; the punishment for conspiracy is summary and swift. And the great rank and file of the people are still insulated against contact with the outside world and subjected to a drumhead of propaganda which pictures the Western Democracies as arming for invasion of Russia.

YET NOW—for the first time—a broadcasting station calling itself the "Free Russian Radio" has been heard in London with a call to freedom-loving people to rise and strike down the regime of Premier Marshal Stalin. There was immediate jamming. At times the broadcast became inaudible.

But some clear instructions were heard. These included a suggestion that anti-Stalinists write on walls letters or symbols standing for "death to tyrants" and the use of extreme care in contacts and conversations.

Significantly, the broadcast was heard both in Russia and Ukraine, indicating that the plotters hoped to reach a wide audience. The Ukraine always has been considered the Soviet Union's main weak spot.

An armed guerrilla movement has been underway there almost since the end of the war; it is supposedly common knowledge that during the conflict Ukrainians welcomed the Nazi invaders as liberators from Communist oppression.

The Nazis' own record in this regard would hardly fit them for any such role. But the Ukrainian is different from an ordinary Russian and it is possible these people would have taken to a measure of autonomy under Germany in place of their useless and voiceless role in the Communist setup.

THE DIFFICULTY of promoting rebellion in a dictatorship is well explained by an old military axiom that a crippled man in a wheelchair can hold 300 others at bay if he has a machinegun and inexhaustible supplies of ammunition.

No one outside the MVD and its mystery shrouded secret service adjuncts knows exactly how many men and women have been designated as watchdogs over the Russian people.

Assuming that Communism is a false philosophy, it is likely that a large proportion of these go about their grisly jobs mainly to keep them.

Many others are doubtless fanatics. But in the event of full-scale revolution, a switch of allegiance by thousands could be anticipated and certainly no one could aid a popular uprising more than the men originally delegated to prevent it.

Present purges in Czechoslovakia and elsewhere, the wholesale desertion of satellite diplomats, and reports of industrial deficiencies that indicate a shrewd form of passive resistance, all seem to point to the undisputed fact that Communism is having its troubles.

Were it not for the intensive militarization of all Russia and the satellite states, the current unrest might be regarded as encouraging to the Western World.

But thus far there has been little concrete evidence of organization for revolt. The broadcast heard in London may be of enormous importance—it is equally possible that those responsible for it were on their way to Siberia almost before the last syllable echoed. At the moment the

Farm Groups Giving Brannan Annoying Hotfoot

WASHINGTON, March 15—Farm organization sharpshooters still have got Agriculture Secretary Brannan dancing from foot to foot.

These groups, led by the powerful American Farm Bureau Federation, took many a potshot at the floor under Brannan when he waltzed his farm price plan around the nation.

The old Brannan Plan has now become a forgotten wallflower—mainly because of Farm Bureau fireworks.

But the pistol-packing "bullies" are still shooting up the town. Their favorite target is dancing again and with a new partner—the agricultural mobilization program.

The farm organizations want to shove Brannan into the background. They are asking the leaders of the mobilization program to surround themselves on high policy levels with farm advisers, thus bypassing Brannan.

The farm request is somewhat similar to a demand put to Economic Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson by Labor. But Wilson so far has not given in to farm leaders requests and Brannan hopes he will not.

The farm leaders say the farm-preparedness program headed by Brannan is not doing a good job. Brannan answers this charge by surrounding himself with several new special "advisers" on such matters as fertilizer and machinery and by anticipating critics' demands.

most that can be said is that the situation will bear watching—and listening.

LOST 40 LBS. and 8 INCHES FROM BUST, WAIST AND HIPS

"Rennel Concentrate has helped me in many ways," writes Blanche Kidd, R. S. Marietta, Ohio. "For many years I had been troubled with being overweight although I was careful of what I ate because of gall bladder and stomach trouble. I would toss half the night, and could get no rest at all. Since using Rennel I am an entirely different person. I have used four bottles of your fine product and now eat everything I want. I have lost 40 lbs. and 8 inches around my bust, waist and hips. I now sleep and rest all night, do my house work and I no longer am disturbed with stomach trouble. My nerves are much better, and I feel more rested. I am 58 years old and the mother of eight children. It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain 4 ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate at your druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two table-spoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple easy way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves, just return it for your money back. Note how quickly I lost weight—how much better you feel. Insist on Rennel."

Tips Given To Hike Production

Getting More Out Of Soil Is Studied

COLUMBUS, March 15—Ohio needs a production program "that will give record production in 1951 and continue to break records in the years that follow."

"It appears that the demand for increased production will continue to increase," D. R. Dodd, extension agronomist at Ohio State university, said today.

He said Ohio farmers face the need when there are "no new productive lands to break. Soil on some farms has been conserved but the average trend is downward."

There is, however, an area where production can be increased. Dodd said sod crops are "our most economical livestock feed," and there are still extensive acreages of low-yielding sod that will respond to good management.

"Maximum production of grain crops over an extended period," Dodd added, "probably comes when sod crops occupy the land at least a third of the time."

He upped the fraction to 50 or even 100 percent in the case of severe erosion hazard. Such cropping patterns will increase farm output of human food and livestock feed, he said.

TO MEET THE NEED, despite the situation, Dodd had the following advice:

1. Test soils. Learn what is in your soil bank.
2. Order fertilizer early and accept delivery. Get it out of the factory so more can be made.
3. Use fertilizer efficiently. It does no good in the barn. County agents have copies of Bulletin 315, Ohio Fertilizer Recommendations, 1950-51.
4. Continue liming programs in full force.
5. Use green manure crops. Most soils need more organic matter.
6. Plan and act early.
7. Increase grain crop acreages to the level of maximum long-time production. If beyond that level, cut back acreage and increase yields. Remember this is a long-time program as well as one for 1951.
8. Increase sod-crop yields.
9. Provide livestock with more and better pasture to reduce the demand of livestock for human food.
10. Select crop varieties to fit conditions.
11. Use best cultural practices.

$20,000 Anti-Red Fund Approved

COLUMBUS, March 15—A bill appropriating $20,000 to finance the Ohio Legislature's probe of Communism in the state was recommended for passage today by the senate finance committee.

Meanwhile, the ten-member anti-Red group-five members from the house and five from the senate—continues to screen applicants for posts of committee counsel and committee investigators.

The group will report back to the legislature by May 10 on whether it believes federal anti-subversive agencies have the matter well under control, whether Ohio's laws in this respect need strengthening, and whether it believes a permanent anti-subversive state commission should be established.

Congressional Change Ahead

COLUMBUS, March 15—Re-division of the state into 23 congressional districts by the Ohio Legislature appeared a virtual certainty today—whether Ohio's present congressmen like it or not.

Both the Republican majority and the Democratic minority of the house of representatives caucused late yesterday and took a stand in support of dividing the state into 23 districts more nearly equal in population.

BETTER TECHNIQUE IS TOLD

New Mothers Sent Home Next Day By Texas Clinic

CHICAGO, March 15—An unusual experiment in obstetrical care in which new mothers are sent home from the hospital within 24 hours after they have given birth was described today.

Dr. William F. Mengert, professor of obstetrics at Southwestern Medical School of the University of Texas, Dallas, told a clinical conference of the Chicago Medical Society that the experiment has been dramatically successful to date.

Thus far, Dr. Mengert said, of the 500 women sent home sitting up in an automobile—not in an ambulance—24 hours after delivering their children, only five (one percent) have had to be brought back for any reason.

The Texas specialist said the number of cases, however, is still not large enough for a really adequate evaluation of the new method.

According to Dr. Mengert, the return to the privacy of the home within 24 hours after birth of the baby combines two advantages.

1—THE MOTHER is removed from the family and home for only a minimum time. Modern obstetrics already encourages women to get out of bed as quickly as possible after delivery of a baby—since this lessens dangers of blood clots, aids in keeping muscle tone and cuts down the danger of complications.

2—Aims of the "rooming-in" plan—in which the baby is kept in a crib alongside its mother's bed rather than in the hospital nursery—are achieved at home.

Theory behind the rooming-in plan is that it makes for happier babies and mothers. The new baby gets love, affection and comfort by being cuddled and cared for by his mother instead of in an impersonal nursery where busy nurses must work on a rigid schedule.

The new mother continually is in the presence of her baby, and with expert help at her beck and call she gains confidence and skill in caring for him and his moods.

The new University of Texas plan, according to Dr. Mengert, grew out of a desire to adopt the rooming-in plan at the school's hospital in Dallas. He pointed out, however:

"Like many hospitals, and especially in such a rapidly growing community as Dallas, we are pressed for space. Two hundred women are being delivered a month in a space formerly believed to be crowded when we delivered only 100 a month."

TO KEEP THE mother and baby together, hospital officials worked out a home delivery service, but they abandoned this. It was just too difficult to transport all the vital equipment provided by a modern maternity ward to the individual home.

Under the new plan, mothers who have had a normal delivery and give no sign of trouble are sent home within 24 hours. At home, they receive daily

ELINOR WILLIAMS' Teen Tips

When "Puzzled" is signed to one of our letters from readers, it's often about goodnight kisses. Here's one:—

"I have a problem about which I would like your advice," writes a high school girl. "I am 15 years old and my problem is that a boy I went out with recently for the first time wanted to kiss me goodnight. I politely refused him.

"He has asked me out again and I do not feel as if I want to kiss him. How can I refuse without hurting his feelings?"

visits for a week by city and county nurses and by senior medical students to check the progress of both the mother and the baby.

Would you please print this in the paper?"

Some girls refuse without hurting their date's feelings by saying, "Not THIS time." Or "After all, we don't know each other very well yet..." They find that this spares the boy's feelings and avoids discouraging him completely...

because they feel that when they know him better, perhaps they'll feel different about a goodnight kiss.

If you don't want to kiss him later either, it will help if you avoid parking, double-dating with couples who do park or who linger at the front door while saying goodnight. One girl writes that she leaves the porch light on...

Some boys believe you shouldn't date them unless you're willing to kiss them, but friendship is the best, most lasting basis for date-fun and for romance. So you're right in waiting until you really like a boy before kissing him.

NATION OF CHISELERS?

EFFORTS of a beneficent government to care for the aged and infirm are no sooner put into effect than they are taken advantage of by the chiselers, and those who would turn to their selfish advantage measures designed to solve a social problem. Recently old-age assistance and pension rolls in a Tennessee county were made public through a clerical error. It was discovered pensions were being paid to many who had been dead for years.

Naturally citizens of Tennessee were shocked, but it remains to be seen if anything will be done about it. Investigation might disclose similar situations in other states. So long as the federal government insists that the names of those on relief and pension rolls must be kept secret, or federal aid will be withheld, the opportunities for chiseling and cheating will continue.

A nasty mess has been uncovered in Washington, by an investigation of the operations of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Apparently millions have been made in loans which would not pass muster with the most liberal bankers. Large fees collected in return for political influence seem to have been common.

REFUGEE VOLUNTEERS

IT IS reported that military leaders in Europe would have no trouble recruiting at least 100,000 refugees from Russia and satellite countries who want to join the European army in defense against the spread of Communism.

What the political and social ramifications of accepting them might be is for the counselors of the various governments to determine. On the face of it there would seem to be many points in favor of taking them in. It would make Russia mad enough to slam a revolving door, of course, but Russia would not be deterred by any considerations in arming such people if refugees from this side of the iron curtain were available, which they are not.

Probably one trouble is that the refugees would want to be organized according to national origin and fight under their own commanders. Then they would be in line for high influence in their native lands when and if they were liberated from the Communist dictators.

On the basis of their willingness to fight Communism under the command of existing nations now taking the lead, however, there would seem to be nothing much against receiving them. It would leave that many more American boys at home.

MARCH OF EVENTS

Call Seaway-Power Project Vital to Nations' Defense | Rhode Island's Green Heads Move for Senate Approval

WASHINGTON—Industrial mobilization of the United States and Canada requires canals along the St. Lawrence that will enable ocean-going ships to haul their cargoes to Great Lakes ports, and it also needs the 2,200,000 horsepower of electric capacity that could be produced by the St. Lawrence dams.

These are ideas underlying the urgency noted in sponsors of new bills introduced in both houses of the 82nd Congress. These joint resolutions seek approval of the agreement signed 10 years ago, in March, 1941, between the United States and Canada for the seaway-power development of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Basin.

White House statements recently have also struck this note of urgency, and for the same reasons. Various high officials in both the United States and Canada have urged action necessary to get the long-debated and long-needed St. Lawrence project under way.

On Feb. 20 the House public works committee began hearings on the seaway and power legislation. A joint resolution for approval of the seaway-power agreement was introduced to the House on Jan. 3. Senator Theodore F. Green (D), Rhode Island, and 25 other senators of both major political parties introduced a similarly worded joint resolution in the Senate on Jan. 29. It was read twice and referred to the committee on foreign relations.

Growing need for foreign iron ore to meet steel requirements in the face of stepped-up defense production provides a new and vitally important reason for completing the St. Lawrence project, it is pointed out.

These Days

My mind turns to Miss Barbara Hutton, who also goes by the name of Princess Troubetzkoy.

I do not know the lady, but I have for many years seen her picture in the newspapers, usually in relation to a marriage or a divorce or attendant circumstances. In fact, I have so often seen her face in the newspapers that I could conjure its line from my memory. It must be grand and glorious to be a subject of news all one's life, although I am sure that no one in his senses, or hers, would invite so much attention.

I do not recall all the names that this lady has borne through several marriages nor why they should be interesting. I have been told that news about Miss Hutton's lawyers bargaining, in the newspapers, with the prince as to whether he is to have $3,000,000 or $500,000 for the lady to be relieved of him, is very important information and that many readers prefer it to my pontifications on world affairs.

Well, there you are. There is no accounting for tastes. After all, this lady's greatest contribution to current history has been her ability to marry a variety of men at different times, but in a sort of juxtaposition, and to get rid of them with facility.

It was so much easier in the time of the Borgias; they just poisoned those whom they no longer loved. Catherine The Great killed her outmoded or outworn lovers. But ours is a legalistic and journalistic age. Each collapse of a marriage needs to be legalized and publicized with plenty of photography. It is a mark of progress and civilization!

I have never quite been able to understand how all these stories come out unless they are given out. I have been in this business of reporting for 34 years, more or less, and I have yet to find that these intimate relations between a man and a woman make their way into the press unless the parties most concerned provide them. Of course, when they reach the police blotter or the law court, they are news. But when they are in the talking stage, someone must give the press a tip. It is usually a hired press agent. And I still wonder why anyone wants to have family disputes so advertised.

Enormous amounts of newsprint were consumed telling of the fiery romance of the Troubetzkys, with all sort of photographs. I could not help thinking, as I noted these stories, that the principals were a little overage for the sort of playing around that was being described. It looked to me as though this red-hot business was for the 1920s, when it all seems cute, rather than for middle-aged folks, when it seems bizarre.

Really, why don't these people retire and get out of our lives? We had the Bergman woman and that fantastic Ali Khan person, but the perennial is this Barbara Hutton. All the time, for some reason or another, we see her face in the news in relation to a scandal.

Inflation has replaced the weather as a subject of conversation. It is similar to the weather in that nobody does anything about it.

New Orleans professor says weevils are good eating, but it is doubtful if they will become popular as a delicacy until food prices advance an additional 100 percent.

augmented iron ore imports from other countries," recently asserted Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman. "One of the most important of our potential foreign sources is in Labrador, which has rich, high-grade deposits.

"If these ores are to be made readily available to the great steel centers in the Pittsburgh area and the Midwest, the development of the St. Lawrence Seaway is needed, and should be made an integral part of our basic defense plan. In addition to Labrador, substantial tonnages of iron ore can be obtained in Venezuela and Brazil."

Senator Green, who introduced the seaway-power resolution in the Senate, called the attention of his fellow senators to the fact that "we have arrived . . . at a stage where in addition to its basic advantages in the fields of both transportation and power, the dual-purpose project must be built as a strategic requirement of our national security and the continental defense of the United States and Canada."

Senator Herbert H. Lehman (D), New York, another sponsor of the new Senate bill, asserted that in this present period of the nation's history "when our very survival depends upon the mobilization of all our resources and the development of all our potentials for the strengthening of our country and of the free world, it is inconceivable that this legislation will not be speedily enacted."

SENATOR WILLIAM BENTON (D), Connecticut, a third sponsor of the Senate measure, explained that he supports the St. Lawrence seaway-power project for three reasons:

1—Because "it will permit the development of 1,100,000 horsepower of electric capacity on the American side of the international boundary line."

2—Because "the St. Lawrence Seaway is now needed for the expansion of industrial capacity, and as a means of economizing manpower and materials."

3—Because it will enable ships built on the Great Lakes to go into action on their own steam, while food and material can be carried more speedily and with less cost to the armed forces.

Numerous prominent industrialists who formerly opposed the St. Lawrence seaway and power project have recently indicated that they have changed their minds and will now support its approval by the Senate. Strong opposition is still anticipated, however, from New York port interests and certain railroads.

Pain and Numbness in the Legs

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THERE are various conditions which result in a reduction of the amount of blood flowing through the arteries of the legs, but nine out of ten cases are due either to hardening of the arteries or to Buerger's Disease, a condition which not only causes spasm of the blood vessel walls but also brings about changes in the vessels.

Buerger's Disease usually causes symptoms before the age of 50. If symptoms occur after this age, they are more likely to be due to hardening of the arteries than to Buerger's Disease. The symptoms which are most noticeable are pain and numbness in the legs, abnormal sensation of cold in the legs, and what is known as intermittent claudication. The latter refers to pain in the legs which develops during exercise so that it becomes necessary to stop and rest. The legs may feel cold and look pale or be excessively red.

Abnormally Pale

A test which is helpful in making a diagnosis is to have the person raise one leg for a minute and then to compare its color with that of the other. If the leg becomes abnormally pale, it means there is some disturbance of the circulation.

Since the use of tobacco causes some irritation of the nervous system that results in contraction of the blood vessels, a person with Buerger's Disease should not smoke.

If there is a ringworm infection of the feet, it should be treated so as to prevent secondary infection with germs.

Nerves Are Cut

To improve the circulation in the legs, warmth is helpful. An operation on the sympathetic nerves would seem to be beneficial in some cases. In this operation, the nerves which run to the blood vessel muscles are cut which, of course, relaxes the spasm. After the operation, the pain is relieved and there is general improvement of the circulation in the legs.

There are no drugs which seem to be of any particular benefit, although injections of a substance known as histidine, one of the amino acids which make up proteins, have brought improvement in some cases. Large doses of vitamins C and E have also been tried, but with no outstanding results.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F. M. What causes a sore mouth with swelling of the lips?

Answer: This could come from many causes, such as trench mouth, infection with various germs, or allergy or oversensitivity.

A thorough examination by the physician is needed to find the cause before treatment can be suggested.

The death of Frank Phillips in Atlantic City last August ended the success story of one of the most colorful figures in American industry. Phillips began his career as a barber in Creston, Iowa. He had seen a tonsorial artist wearing beautiful striped pants when he was a boy, and then there resolved to have a pair like them for himself.

In a few years he owned all the barber shops in the county, and had married the leading banker's daughter. Then he started digging for oil in Oklahoma, and brought in eighty gushers in succession! With his first million he had all the pipes, faucets, and door knobs in his house changed to solid gold. He lived to see his Phillips Petroleum Company become one of the greatest oil producing, refining, and distribution units in the world.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

JENNET had been allowed to know very few young men and when she was in the company of one of those she had been always closely chaperoned. At home by Miss Dixie, her mother's companion-nurse, at school by Madame Fancher herself or one of her teachers. But the most lynx-eyed duennas could not stop an exchange of glances or coy turns of the head; nor could Madame Fancher stem the whispered speculation that went on among the girls behind closed doors. This was by an underteacher who was not averse, when opportunity offered, to informing the girls on the ways of men, of which she claimed to know a great deal. They called her the Toad but they listened, flushed of cheek, eyes averted from one another.

Jennet had listened with them but she had given little thought to love or marriage. Hagar, the only one whose words had weight with her, had told her that when love came to her she would know it, and in the meanwhile there was no need to ponder on it. Was this she felt, now . . .

No, she could not tell anyone of what had happened in her meeting with Peter Brant.

Quint's frown did not smooth out. "It isn't only snakes and wild beasts, child. This is a rougher country than you've known. I must ask you . . ."

"Don't, Uncle Quint. Please don't ask me to say I'll never ride alone again. Because some day I'd like to." Now her eyes met Quint's squarely. "I'd have to do it! It is something in me, just as it is in Aladdin. And you'd be angry with me, which would be much worse than worrying. Would you feel better about my safety if I showed you that I am an expert with firearms? Timothy, a stableman at Greenland's, taught me the use of them. Perhaps if I carried a rifle . . ."

"But no!" Quint roared. "I'll stable my horse, now." Jennet's eyes danced at him. "Oh, you will find out that I can do many more things than sing and sew!" She drew the bridle reins in a closer grip, patted his arm. "Don't look so troubled over me, Uncle Quint!"

He let her go but his eyes as they followed her were troubled. She must go on to Newark. He would write to Alec, to come for her at once.

As he went in to the taproom, a tall youth came swaggering in through the other door, Cordy Mosedale, the older of the Mosedale boys.

All three were held in had repute along the frontier. They lived with a crippled father in a dirty cabin on the Scajaguada, depending for food on what they could poach from the farms about. Some time ago Quint had forbidden them to so much as show their faces in the tavern, and no one of the three had attempted to do so until now, when Cordy, ignoring Quint, demanded of Toby with a bold insolence, "A mug of rum, bag-mouth, and quick!"

"Get out of here!" Quint ordered at Cordy's shoulder. "You've been told to keep away from these premises!"

"Who's to put me off? Not you!" His eyes dropped to Quint's empty sleeve.

Quint's answer was to take him by the collar, push him, half-choking, to the door and heading across the stoop into the road where he sprawled ignominiously. "You'll get worse if there's a next time."

The men who were in the taproom were grinning approval.

Quint went into his office. That letter to his brother must be written at once.

Jennet had intended, when her horse was stabled, to slip into the house and up to her room, and there, closing herself and live over again those precious, thrilling minutes with Peter. Dwell on them until they were entrenched in her heart, his face, too, his voice, the proud lift of his head . . . Her fingers fumbled over the buckles and straps, for even in the shed the sun seemed to dance on everything and blur her vision. Once, as she must say it to someone, she put her face against Aladdin's neck, and murmured, "I am in love. I am in love!"

In the yard she found Becky. In the yard she found Becky, clinging to the well-sweep, her thin face white with terror. "For goodness sake, Becky, what is it?"

"I—saw—him." Becky whispered it through shaking lips.

"Who? Where?"

"Over there, back of us—at the edge of the trees." Becky still whispered.

Jennet looked in the direction Becky had indicated and saw the tall figure of a man drawing back among the trees.

"Do you know him? Perhaps he wants you to go over there and talk to him."

"He does—he signalled to me to come."

"And that," cried Jennet in a burst of impatience, "sets you shaking like a leaf!"

Becky's hands clung more tightly to the well-sweep. "It's—I'm going to have his baby. I—I didn't know . . ."

"Becky! How awful!" Jennet took a step away from the younger girl, staring at her, a deep red slowly going up over her face.

Fresh alarm was in Becky's face. "I shouldn't have told you, Miss Jennet! Mr. Darby would kill me for it!"

"He needn't know," said Jennet quickly. "I'm glad you did tell me. I'll help you all I can." She felt time ago Quint had forbidden them

ONE MAN'S OPINION

We don't know what luck Ike will have with the Atlantic Pact command, but we hear he got a cable from Tokyo reading: "Is that Columbia job still open?", signed "Disillusioned Doug."

But from MacArthur's experience it's obvious why the administration wants no ceiling on the number of American troops who will go to England to defend Brooklyn; they just don't want Ike to get lonely.

But the idea of Congress wanting a say about the number or dispersal of American troops in Europe is ridiculous. Shucks, we got into Korea without even a committee meeting and the whole Congress couldn't have gotten us in quicker or deeper.

If Congress will just stick to things like investigating domestic gambling, it will find there are willing hands to take care of all the foreign gambles.

The way these fellows sometimes act you'd think they had been elected to handle the nation's business!

and protective. "Don't be frightened, now—that creature won't dare come nearer than the trees. We'll stand here a minute as if we were talking and then we'll go into the house."

They went into the kitchen, Jennet's arm through Becky's. "Come up to my room with me, Becky. I'll show you a more becoming way to fix your hair."

Mr. Pettipiece joined them at the supper table. "By your good lady's invitation," he told Quint after he had bowed to Rhoda and Jennet.

"I've met with the most gratifying co-operation in every place I've stopped," he informed them. "There is evidently a hunger here for the Word—God's Will that I should have had the inspiration to come."

He had chosen the place where he would preach. The log schoolhouse between Cold Spring and the Buffalo village. "Should it rain our ladies . . ." he smiled at Rhoda and Jennet . . . "can take shelter under its roof."

The Gazette was printing some posters announcing the meeting; he had engaged some boys to nail them in conspicuous places throughout the two settlements. "I will consider it a great favor, Host Darby, if you will put one in your room of conviviality."

Quint, only half-listening, nodded a willingness.

"Tomorrow I go to the Indian village to invite our brothers there to worship with us."

Quint saw Jennet's eyes lower suddenly to her plate, the color deepen on her cheeks. And the uneasy thought struck him that she had gone into Te-osh-away today, perhaps met young Brant, who must still be there. There had been something in her face when she came back, a shining . . .

His mind on that, he answered the preacher with some shortness. "They've their own ways to worship—leave them to it."

"You suggest I leave even one of God's sheep untended?"

"Untended! There've been missionaries come to them these good many years' back. Most of the Senecas are Christians, of a sort, anyway."

William Pettipiece threw out his thin chest.

"Yes. That that is so is very gratifying to us who strive to bring the Light to heathen hearts. Especially has Christianity spread among the Mohawks across the river. Education, too. Thanks to the enlightened mind of the great chief, Thayendanegea. Soon there will come a brotherhood in fact between them and us of the white race. The Senecas have their Red Jacket—a worthy man, too. But as long as a few, even one among them, Mohawks or Senecas, live in darkness, think you we can say our labors are over?"

Lutheran Society Sees Playlet On Missions

Mrs. H. M. Crites addressed the Ladies Society of Trinity Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon using the topic, "Home Missions."

She said that, "The American Lutheran church has set as its goal for 1951 the establishment of 36 new home missions in this country."

Meeting in the parish house 47 members and guests also heard a report of the recent board meeting of the Columbus group from the president of the local society, Mrs. Luther Walters.

Mrs. Walters reported that the Spring rally would be held in April in Grove City.

At the conclusion of the business meeting the program featured a playlet depicting mission work among the Mexicans in Texas.

The cast for the play included Mrs. James Carpenter, Mrs. Crites, Mrs. Ray Kibler, Mrs. John Eitel and Mrs. Richard Felmut.

A reading entitled, "What Sort of a Member Are You?" was given by Mrs. Jacob Scharenberg.

A report of the work being done in the primary department was given by the primary superintendent, Mrs. Floyd Weller.

Refreshments were served to the members and their guests by Mrs. John Smith and her committee.

Engagement Announced

Mrs. Earl Rader of Circleville has announced the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Miss Letitia Ann, to Dwight E. Overly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Overly of Clarksburg.

The marriage will be an event of April 15.

COOKBOOK of the WEEK

From the Collection of 24 of THE WORLD'S GREATEST COOKBOOKS

Every good hostess knows how important delicious homemade rolls can be in highlighting the perfection of her menu planning. For the best possible help in making good breads and rolls you must see "250 Breads, Biscuits and Rolls," the nineteenth title in the twenty-four cookbook series currently being released a book-a-week to readers of The Circleville Herald.

The Bread Book has all the information you need about flours for breads, kneading technique, baking and, of course, many excellent recipes that are so carefully explained in words and illustrations that you will have no trouble making even the most involved kinds of breads or coffee cakes. For the most part the recipes are simple to follow and easy to make and in no time at all you can have a pan of steamy rolls nestling in a napkin.

Here is a basic recipe for rolls, taken from the Bread Book, with just a few of the many variations given for different shapes:

YEAST ROLLS

1 cake yeast
1/2 cake lukewarm water
7 tablespoons shortening
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup milk, scalded
1 egg or 2 egg yolks
3 1/2 to 4 cups sifted flour

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Add shortening, sugar and salt to milk. Cool to lukewarm and add yeast and beaten egg. Stir in flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on floured board and knead until satiny and smooth (8 to 10 minutes). Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down. Let rise again until doubled in bulk. Punch down and let stand 10 minutes. Shape into rolls. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in hot oven (425 deg. F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 24-36 rolls.

BREADS

Roll dough out 1/4 inch thick and cut into strips 6 inches long and 1/2 inch wide. Cross 3 strips in the middle and braid from center to each end. Press ends together and fold under. Place on greased baking sheet.

BUTTERLEAF ROLLS

Roll out rectangular sheet very thin. Brush with melted butter. Cut into strips about 1 inch wide. Pile 6 to 7 strips together. Cut into 1 1/2-inch pieces and place on end in greased muffin pans.

CLOVER-LEAF ROLLS

Form dough into small balls.

Dip each into melted butter and place 3 balls in each section of a greased muffin pan.

All you need do to obtain the Bread Book is to present 15 cents to your independent grocery in Circleville.

Always move your steam iron in a forward direction, using

MARINE BOSS SOFT-SPOKEN

'Retreat, Hell!' Credo Questioned By General

IN KOREA, March 15 — The man who voiced the most inspiring single statement of the Korean war still isn't sure he said it.

Major General Oliver Prince Smith, the scholarly gentleman who rides herd on Korea's contingent of hell-for-breakfast Marines, scratches his head and looks baffled when mention is made of his stirring war cry at the Changjin reservoir last November.

"Retreat, hell!" he said in those dark days. "We're attacking in a different direction."

Thinking back to the terrible urgency of the time, Smith recognizes that he might well have uttered such a credo. The Marines were surrounded at the reservoir by six elite Chinese divisions and were faced with the necessity of carving their way through to the sea. Leathernecks still refer to the situation as the time they were "in the doughnut."

THE BREAKOUT could have been interpreted as a technical retreat, but Smith viewed the problem differently. His men attacked constantly and chewed up thousands of Chinese in their slashing withdrawal. Little wonder he saw the "retreat" as merely an assault in another direction.

"But I don't remember making the statement," he says today.

"Now they're making a picture with that title in Hollywood and everything. It just about sums up the way it was, so it's all right with the men."

Marines who heard Smith make his famous declaration of faith are aware that there is room for skepticism about its authenticity.

The word "hell," does not enter his vocabulary from one year to another. His speech is seldom peppered by earthy expletives favored by many combat leaders. Above all, he is never profane.

In fact, the kindly personality of the commanding general is another of the fascinating contradictions in which the Marine Corps abounds. With his mane of white hair topping a friendly face, he looks more like a college professor than a skilled strategist directing a super fighting machine.

His attitude toward his senior commanders is patient and fatherly. He is an excellent listener. Before making a command decision, he likes to ponder all angles of the problem. But his easy outward demeanor masks an inner will that can be heard and inflexible.

"DON'T BE FOOLED by that quiet manner," a Marine combat leader advised. "The old man can get as tough as he has to. There's only one boss in this outfit and he's it."

That such an unruffled character should give birth to the dynamic dogma of "retreat, hell!" understandably surprised many of his friends. They doubted that even the stress of Changjin would have spurred the general into the statement.

It remained for Capt. Mike Capraro of San Francisco, the Marine public information officer, to reconcile all sides of the argument. Capraro heard the original remark and he has come up with an explanation that satisfies everybody.

"He said it all right," maintains Capraro. "But you shouldn't use an exclamation point after the word 'hell.' The way General Smith said it, he said it quietly like there was a period after hell, not an exclamation point."

It won't look so good on a theatre marquee. Hollywood prefers it with an exclamation point.

24 Farmers To Be Feted In Columbus

Farm And Home Week Honor Is Booked

COLUMBUS, March 15—Twenty-four Ohio farmers will be guests of honor at a recognition dinner for farm record keepers at 6:30 p. m., March 21, the third day of Farm and Home week.

Sponsored by the Ohio Bankers Association in cooperation with the Agricultural Extension Service, the dinner this year will be held for the third time.

Guy Miller and Floyd S. DeLashmott, extension economists at Ohio State university, said today these farmers have contributed information the economists use. That is one reason for the recognition dinner.

To be eligible, a farmer must have kept records and sent them in to extension economists for at least 15 years. They get a certificate every five years after the first one. Information in the records is kept confidential but it contributes to statistics the economists use.

FARMERS' WIVES are being invited to the recognition this year for the first time. DeLashmott pointed out that many wives actually do the record-keeping in farm homes. After the first dinner, some wives said, "I keep the books and you take him down and feed him." Although they did not mean it, DeLashmott said, economists decided to do something about it.

Oldest record keeper who has been honored is West R. Ruggles of Huron County. He will not receive a certificate this year. His certificate was presented in 1949 after 30 years of record keeping. His next will come at the 35-year mark.

Ruggles farms 244 acres in Ridgefield Township. His acreage is 61 bushels of corn; 30 1/2 bushels of wheat; 46 bushels of oats and 2 tons of hay for the 32 years.

He started keeping records for his father when he was 19 years old, Miller said. Now his son, Allen, is turning in records to the extension service.

Following are farmers to be honored at the recognition dinner, listed according to the number of years they have kept records.)

Nehru Deplores Use Of A-Bomb

NEW DELHI, March 15—Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru declared today that full-scale use of atomic bombs in the event of war would kill or disable one billion persons.

Nehru made his statement at a news conference at which he was asked about the statement of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower that he would use the atom bomb immediately on the outbreak of war if it benefitted the United States.

Nehru added that atomic warfare would cause the physical and moral collapse of humanity.

New Factor In Blood Is Discovered

NEW YORK, March 15—A doctor, who first described the RH factor nine years ago, has discovered a mysterious new element in human blood which opens a new medical approach to the study of cancer.

Dr. Philip Levine described the new so-called "Jarrell Factor" in a paper read before the New York Academy of Sciences.

He traced the medical detective work starting with the clew of a rare antibody found in the blood serum of a 66-year-old woman—identified only as a Mrs. Jarrell—suffering from cancer of the stomach.

Dr. Levine said the woman was prepared for blood transfusions preparatory to surgery to remove the malignant tumor. However, the patient's blood would not mix with the blood samples of more than 900 donors.

The scientist said it "fought" with other bloods, causing the red cells to group together. Her blood finally mixed successfully only with the blood of her sister.

He traced the blood reaction to the woman's cancer cells and said these apparently produced a chemical agent or antibody. Dr. Levine said it was the first link ever established between cancer and blood types and may help to explain a cause of cancer.

Dr. Levine is director of the division of serology and immunology of the Ortho Research Foundation in Raritan, N. J.

Look what the Smart Money's buying

Now that the 1951 offerings of the motorcar industry have had a chance to strut their stuff, we ask you—can there be any doubt which is the really smart buy?

If you want a "new look"—Buick has it. That sturdy push-bar forefront says "1951" to all who see it—and provides unsurpassed front-end protection to boot.

If you want power that you can live with through many moons to come—Buick has that too. Years of expert engineering have made Buick's thrill-packed Fireball engine just about as dependable as a power plant can be.

If you want features that combine present pleasure with long-time durability, consider this:

Buick's level-going ride stems from coil springs on all four wheels which are virtually break-proof and never need servicing.

Buick's Dynaflo Drive* takes the *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

strain out of every mile of driving—and pays off by eliminating any need for friction clutch repairs and replacements, by reducing engine and transmission upkeep, and lengthening life of tires.

If you want room and comfort and handling that make any trip a breeze—there's no simpler way to find them than to take over a '51 Buick SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER—relax and enjoy yourself.

And if you want all this at a minimum outlay of dollars—one look at Buick prices will settle this point.

So the smartest thing you can do is get in touch with your Buick dealer. How about doing that right now?

Equipment, accessories, trim and model are subject to change without notice.

NO OTHER CAR PROVIDES ALL THIS:

- DYNAFLO DRIVE—saves strain on driver and car
- FIREBALL POWER—high-compression, valve-in-head engine gets more good from every drop of fuel
- PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT—combines smart style and unsurpassed protection
- WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS—greater clarity at night
- TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE—steadies ride, improves driving control
- 4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING—cushions ride, saves servicing costs
- DUAL VENTILATION—outside air fed separately to right or left of front compartment
- SELF-ENERGIZING BRAKES—hydraulic—multiply pedal-pressure five times at brake drum
- DREAMLINE STYLING—tapered, car-length fenders, gleaming sweepers on most models
- Plus: Self-locking luggage lid, StepOn parking brake, two-way ignition lock, Safety-Ride rims, Hi-Poised engine mounting, Body by Fisher

Supreme Court Rules Pedestrian Takes Chances

COLUMBUS, March 15 — The Ohio supreme court has decided in effect that when a pedestrian starts running across the street, that man is on his own.

The high court reversed the Lucas County appellate court and upheld the common pleas court. The lower court had held that Motorist Edward Mestrovich of Euclid could not be held responsible for keeping an assured clear distance ahead of his car when Paul R. Erdman of Toledo ran in front of him.

Erdman, who was struck by Mestrovich's car in downtown Toledo Nov. 8, 1947, sued for damages, claiming he started across the street under the protection of a red light and never saw the auto.

Mestrovich said the light turned red and he was unable to gauge distances properly after Erdman started running for the curb.

London Judge Rules Against Fitzwilliam

LONDON, March 15 — George "Toby" Fitzwilliam's lifelong dream of inheriting an earldom, the largest private house in England and a good-sized private fortune was smashed yesterday when a court ruled him an illegitimate son.

The decision by Judge Sir Gonne St. Clair Pilcher that the relationship of his mother and father at the time of his birth was "illicit and not matrimonial" put the final touch to a story of secret and romantic marriage.

The strange trial got underway Jan. 29 when the 62-year-old Fitzwilliam asked the court to officially establish his legitimacy.

But it was more than his legitimacy that was at stake. If the court had ruled that he was not illegitimate he would have be-

Longer State Office Term Is Urged By Committee

COLUMBUS, March 15—Ohio's "Little Hoover" Committee has recommended the terms of office for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general and treasurer be lengthened from two to four years.

The committee or reorganization of state government also said the governor's salary should be $25,000 instead of $13,000 and recommended the salaries of the secretary of state, attorney general, treasurer and auditor be increased from $8,500 to $15,000.

The committee said the lieutenant governor's salary should be boosted from $3,600 to $6,000. In its recommendations to the Ohio Program Commission, the committee justified the longer office terms with the claim that "continuity in office is an absolute essential to the orderly development of sound business-like policies."

"A TWO-YEAR TERM in office for the governor leaves him in the situation where in the first term he must spend the first year getting acquainted with his position, and the second year in campaigning for reelection."

Committee Chairman Arthur S. Fleming pointed out that the salary increase would place Ohio's governor on the same level as federal cabinet heads.

It also was pointed out that the four-year terms for governor have proved successful in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey and that longer terms are being adopted in a large number of other states.

The committee also instructed its task force on general management to make recommendations concerning salary increases for the appointive heads of departments, commissions and boards.

As another strengthening argument for a longer gubernatorial term, the committee said:

"Inasmuch as the vast majority of the business functions of the state government are administered by department heads appointed by and responsible to the governor, a change of governors inevitably leads to a change in the top administrative personnel and their staffs. The disruption in service and efficiency which follows... is to be expected."

Soviet Scientists Given Prizes, Loud Praise

MOSCOW, March 15—Russia's council of ministers announced today the award of scores of "Stalin Prizes" for outstanding works in science, invention and literature in the Soviet Union during 1950.

The Moscow Communist newspaper Pravda hailed the awards in an editorial titled "The Triumph of Soviet Science."

A total of 82 prizes were awarded in the field of science alone. Top prizes are valued at $50,000 each.

Leonid Brekhovskikh, an outstanding physicist, received a first prize for his research in acoustics.

Academician Dmitri Skobeltyn and two others, Nikola Dobrotin and Georgi Zatselin, won first prizes for their discoveries made during studies of electronic nuclear showers and the nuclear cascade process of cosmic rays.

In its editorial praising the feats of Russian scientists, Pravda said that the prize winners had "successfully solved the problems set by Stalin to catch up with and overtake in the near future the achievement of science beyond the borders of the USSR."

Pravda said that Russia has "become the genuine citadel and hothouse of advanced science."

Rigid Judging To Face Local Music Group

Local musicians may well feel that they have accomplished something worthwhile Saturday if they rank high in a district adjudications contest in Lancaster.

Music Director Truman Eberly of Circleville high school reported the screws will be tightened in the judging during this year's adjudications.

"This will be the toughest test by far which Circleville musicians have faced in the last few years," Eberly said.

Saturday's district contests, which are slated to draw hundreds of high school musicians into Lancaster, actually will be auditions, in which each contestant or group will be judged for style, tone, general effect, delivery etc.

Highest award during the adjudications will be a ranking of superior, which will give those who receive the rating an opportunity to compete later in statewide auditions for state ratings.

A total of 20 young musicians from Circleville will attend the contests Saturday, along with an outstanding Ashville girl musician.

Infantryman's Badge Awarded Local Soldier

Sergeant First Class Robert E. Miller, son of Mrs. Ada M. Miller of 629 Elm avenue, Circleville, has been awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge in Korea while serving with the Seventh Cavalry regiment.

This badge, which is only awarded frontline combat infantrymen, distinguishes the actual fighting man from the rear area and service troops in a combat zone. A soldier must be a member of an infantry regiment to be eligible to receive it.

The badge itself consists of a miniature replica of a Revolutionary War flint lock rifle on a rectangular blue background superimposed over a wreath. It is worn by the soldier over his left breast pocket above his campaign ribbons.

Castor oil was known to the ancient Egyptian, and was used as a remedy as early as 2,000 B. C.

Made-To-Order Weather Studied By Committees

WASHINGTON, March 15—Senate hearings begin today on made-to-order weather — which may be opening up a vast new field that will require regulation on a national basis.

Participating in a joint subcommittee headed by Sen. Anderson, (D) N. M., are Senate Agriculture, Commerce and Interior Committees. Three separate bills are before them.

Experiments in artificial rain-making "seem to indicate" — Anderson does not yet accept them as final—that producing rain in one area may change the weather "several states away."

If it does, rainmakers must be controlled on a federal scale, since producing the desirable amount of moisture in one area might upset the weather in another.

There also is a question of whether made-to-order weather may become a military weapon. The Anderson subcommittee will avoid going into that question.

$3 Million In Loans Given Fur Farmers

WASHINGTON, March 15—The Agriculture Department has sunk almost $3 million in the fur business.

An agency of Secretary Brannan's department is authorized by Congress to make loans to "any bona fide fur farmer" to enable him "to carry on present fur-farming operations."

Officials of the lending agency, the Farmers Home Administration, say the FHA has made individual loans ranging up to $300,000 to underwrite the production of minks, silver foxes and other fur-bearing animals. These officials say that the average loan to "fur farmers" amounts to $6,721.

That is almost six times more than the average of loans made to "dirt" farmers who have suffered onslaughts, bad weather or other acts of nature. The average disaster loan is $1,153.

Year's Rough Weather Costly To Farmers In Pickaway

Bean, Corn Losses Are Cited Here

Wheat Harvest Is Curbed, Too

Old Man Weather has dug deep into the pocketbooks of Pickaway County farmers during the last year.

Snow, rain, ice, sleet and floods in the last 12 months have caused thousands of dollars in losses to local farmers.

One farmer, in attempting to set loss at a specific amount, cited the loss in soybean crops alone during the year.

The farm owner estimated roughly that about 30 acres of soybeans were lost in each township of the county because of bad weather, a total of 450 acres.

Figuring at 20 bushels of beans to the acre in harvest and the present market at $3 per bushel, the loss according to the estimated figures runs at about $27,000.

"THAT MIGHT be a little high," temporized Larry Best, county extension agent, "but there is no doubt that losses by weather have been severe."

And the loss doesn't stop at soybeans.

And the period of loss isn't over yet.

"These fellows who have eorn cribbed on their farms, whether they realize it or not, stand to lose considerably unless they take care in the near future," Best pointed out.

"They had better watch it very closely as the weather gets warmer," he warned.

"Some of this corn will not keep unless it is moved or gets air into it artificially."

Even higher than the estimated loss of soybeans during the last year was the loss of corn, Best said.

"A lot of standing corn has fallen to the ground and can't be picked," Best said. "About the best thing that can be done with it is to let the hogs into it to hog it off."

Wheat also has suffered with the foul weather.

Last year's heavy rains and bad weather close to reaping time took its toll by numerous wheat diseases.

"WE HAD SOME rust, smut and scab which, all in all, did affect the wheat yield in a lot of areas," Best said.

"The weather was favorable for the smuts and rusts. A lot of new wheat has suffered this winter because of ice and snow."

Best pointed out that the combination of ice and snow, along with freezing and thawing, has made many county wheatfields worthless.

"Some fields will have to be completely resown," the extension agent cited, "probably resown in beans, oats or corn."

Best said that the repeated thawing and freezing has exposed the later-planted wheat and made it worthless.

Railroads Get Hike In Rates

WASHINGTON, March 15—The government has granted the railroads a two to four percent interim freight rate increase estimated to boost the nation's freight bill by $200 million a year.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, in granting the hike, said it will amount to a freight rise of 2.4 percent on a national average.

The carriers had requested a six percent boost. The ICC will hold further hearings at an unspecified date on the question of making the increase permanent.

Ditch Hearing Is Continued Until March 22

Hearing on an appeal from an order by Pickaway County commissioners to clean and straighten the Clements ditch in Perry Township was started Wednesday in common pleas court.

The case, however, was continued until March 22 by Judge William D. Radcliff. On that date the ditch will be viewed by the court.

Petition to appeal the order was filed by Joseph B. Amos in November, 1949.

In his petition Amos states that the commission order fixes the eastern end of improvement at a point where the ditch flows into Hay Run, which passes through his lands.

He contends that widening and cleaning the ditch would cause a greater overflow of water into Hay Run unless it, too, is widened, deepened and cleaned north and south of the junction.

The petition asks the court to set aside the commission order as to the part fixing the eastern terminus at Hay Run.

Monroe Club Books Parley

Future Farmers of Monroe met at the school house Monday night and voted to hold meetings on the first and third Mondays except for the month of March.

At the next meeting, March 26, Jack Timmons and Ronnie Rivers will give a demonstration on how to make a rope halter.

Liquor Ruling Being Dropped

COLUMBUS, March 15—An emergency order repealing a regulation making it mandatory for drink spots to seal up attached living quarters will become law in 60 days.

The order was filed late yesterday by State Liquor Director William C. Bryant with the secretary of state.

Bryant said the regulation was impractical to enforce in a large number of cases. He said "benefits derived from its enforcement are far outweighed by the many hardship cases, especially among small operators, and by the acute shortage of labor and materials."

Parents Lack Sex Education

NEW YORK, March 15—New Jersey's official psychologist says most of the sex education given children is meaningless and sometimes harmful because the adults themselves are "so utterly confused."

Dr. Albert Ellis, chief psychologist of the department of institutions and agencies of the state of New Jersey, said:

"The chances of American parents or teachers doing anything effective about sex education of children are pretty slim, in view of their own failure to face the facts of human sexuality maturely."

Ex-Superintendent Solon Burning Ears Of OEA

COLUMBUS, March 15—The Ohio Education Association's collective ears were still burning today following a tongue-lashing delivered on the house floor by a former school superintendent, Rep. William Manahan (R-Defiance).

Manahan lit into the school lobby to lead a successful fight against a motion by Rep. Arthur Milleson (D-Harrison) to permit the education committee to use the house chamber for its second hearing on the OEA's initiated minimum teacher pay bill last night.

After a teacher-representative, Joseph Avellone (D-Cuyahoga) supported the motion on the ground that the teachers had a right to use the chamber because they are "teaching our children," Manahan charged that the teacher-spectators at a similar hearing last week were unfair in their treatment of the committee.

Manahan's blast climaxed rumblings from members that, following last week's unauthorized hearing in the house chamber in defiance of house rules, various items left by the members on their desks turned up missing.

"I HOPE," Manahan commented, "that the OEA, which is bringing all the teachers down to Columbus—including my wife—know how I feel about this bill."

Manahan, a four-term generally recognized as one of the ablest speakers in the house and a member of the education committee, added that he intended to ask some "pertinent questions" as to how many teachers have gone unpaid under the current teacher-aid bills passed by the last two legislative sessions.

"After last week's hearing," Manahan stated, a man came to me and said his wife demanded that I make a public apology for inferring that some teachers have not been paid.

"I took him to my desk and I opened his eyes. I showed him, and I have here in my possession, letters from ten teachers who said they have not been paid for seven months."

"Now I am going to ask some pointed questions on this bill, of both proponents and opponents," Manahan charged further that speakers supposed to be appearing before the committee were addressing, not the committee as

Permit Freeze Thaw Is Sought

COLUMBUS, March 15—A bill lifting the freeze on the issuance of liquor permits, introduced in the Ohio senate by Sen. Arthur Blake (D-Martins Ferry), is to be given its second hearing and referred to committee for consideration today.

The Blake bill, by knocking out of the present law the population formula on which the freeze is predicated, would guarantee
